

Truman-Hoover Plan

REGARDLESS of the G. O. P. defeat, it looks as if the Hoover commission on reorganization of the government was going to win out in the end.

The plan was created by the "second worst congress" and sponsored by Senator Taft's spokesman, Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio. Most Democrats figured the Hoover commission's work now would be junked. But it won't, and there are two good reasons why.

One reason is Harry Truman. The other is Herbert Hoover.

These two gentlemen have become quite fond of each other. Despite the cracks he took at Hoover during the campaign (which came under the head of "campaign oratory"), Truman really likes Hoover. And the feeling is reciprocated.

Hoover had never set foot in the White House since the sad day he left it in 1933 until Truman invited him back after Roosevelt's death. The fact that Truman called the ex-president in for consultation automatically shielded him from the barbs and sting which the New Dealers had slung in his direction for 12 long years. No longer was Hoover their favorite punching-bag.

Not only that but Truman had brought him before the public eye once again. And Hoover was so grateful he even requested the Gridiron club to let him speak, in order to pay special tribute to his newfound friend.

Truman, in turn, not only likes Hoover but plans to use Hoover's name to wrest from congress powers which they refused to give Franklin Roosevelt.

Congress Withheld Power

Truman not only wants to be a good President, but he is acutely sensitive to Dewey's charges that Washington needs a housecleaning. He has one in mind. But he has learned, far better than Dewey, that you can't clean house unless congress gives you the power to houseclean.

FDR asked for housecleaning power, and Harry Truman, then only a junior senator, vividly recalls how the Republican press smeared it as the "dictatorship bill" and how a Democratic congress barely passed a bill giving him severely restricted powers.

So Truman wants to use Hoover's name to put through a new reorganization bill, and he wants Hoover's support in lining up conservative Republicans to back him.

Furthermore, Truman believes that Hoover, like the supreme court, has read the election returns, and will not recommend anything which he, Truman, can't go along with. Since Hoover was also once a President, conditioned by the White House background, they think somewhat alike on what is needed in the executive branch of the government.

There are only two living men who have any idea of the cares and wear and loneliness of the presidency. This bond makes the two men closer than party labels. That, perhaps, was one reason why Hoover stayed out of the recent campaign.

Furthermore, Hoover needs Truman even more than Truman needs him. This is Herbert Hoover's last public service. He has worked long, hard hours, and he wants this reorganization of government to be a final monument to his career.

That is why he is leaning heavily on Truman to rescue his last efforts from defeat. Unless Truman does so, and gives them a Democratic label in the new Democratic congress, they will have no chance of passage.

Little Aid for China

Chiang Kai-shek's chances of receiving vast new appropriations from the incoming Democratic congress appear pretty slim, if energetic Congressman Sol Bloom, new chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, has his way.

Quoth Sol privately to friends:

"I'm not going to vote to give Chiang another gun or another dollar for war purposes until he cleans his own house. That Chinese government has corruption coming out its ears—and their so-called army is the worst offender."

"Furthermore," opined Bloom, "we ought to stop these phony American observers who go over to China for a month and then come back to tell us either what we already know about Chinese army graft, or only what Chiang wants us to know."

Bloom was referring to William C. Bullitt, who can claim the unique distinction of having deserted three American presidents and who, having jumped on the Dewey bandwagon, ducked off to China before the Truman administration could stop him. He was appointed by the Republicans—before the elections—as an "observer."

Howard, Hodges Stars of Amateur Stage Production

Playing before a near capacity audience Thursday and Friday evenings in the Campbell high school auditorium, Gene Hodges and LBen Howard in the Footlighter's production of "Smilin' Through," clearly were the stars of the elaborate production. They were well supported in their characterizations of old ben by Alma Fanning in the role of Ellen the maid, and Earl Clark as Willis Ainsley.

It was the general opinion that while the first act was excellently acted, the prologue could easily have been eliminated as the character references mentioned were too vague for the audience to understand so early in the play. The first act was excellently staged and acted with intricate lighting worthy of note as well as the elaborate stage setting and life-like garden. Stronger voices on the part of the amateur cast would have increased the effectiveness of the second act, but the earnestness of the garden gate silently opening sent chills up and down the spines of the witnesses.

However, the cast is to be complimented on their public-spirited enterprise in giving Campbellites an evening of relaxation and at the same time benefitting the Campbell High School PTA.

The a cappella choir singing between the first and second acts under the direction of Frank Triena was much appreciated by the audience as was the high school orchestra directed by Triena before the play and between the acts.

Two Campbellites Win Television Sets In Contest

Christmas came early this week for two residents of Campbell. Mrs. James Lagiss of Rt. 2, Box 735-B, San Tomas Road and Kenneth Strong of 125 Bland Ave. were the recipients Monday of RCA Victor television sets which were awarded as prizes in a recent Germaine Seed Company contest.

The prizes, which were the only ones made in Northern California, were made on Mrs. Lagiss' guess as to the number of seeds in a pound of Germaine's Emerald Lawn seed.

Strong, formerly of Nelson Grain Company, won the set as the dealer who entered her figure in the contest. The beautiful sets are valued at $300 and came as a total surprise to the two Campbellites.

Santa to Distribute Candy Along Parade Route During Campbell's Xmas Parade

Final preparations are now under way for the festive holiday parade to be held Monday evening Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. with Santa Claus as the feature attraction. The parade, which is being sponsored by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, will inaugurate officially the Christmas season for the merchants of Campbell, who are planning to stay open every evening until 9 p.m. from then until Dec. 24 for the convenience of Campbell shoppers.

The parade will start at Rincon and Winchester roads, then to the corner of Winchester and Campbell avenue; and up Campbell avenue to Dillon avenue. While entries are not yet complete it was announced that the Merchant's Association would have an entry as well as the Seventh Day Adventist Church, the Campbell Union High School, the Campbell Methodist Church, the Campbell Grammar School and St. Lucy's church. It was expected that the churches would have groups of carol singers. Santa Claus of course, brings up the rear of the parade and will distribute candy to all children along the line of march.

This will be a big occasion in the history of Campbell as being the first time Santa has ever officially appeared in the town. Campbell streets have been beautifully decorated for the occasion with colored lights and tinsel garlands highlighting the central wreaths and candles. Even the electric poles along the main avenues have taken on a Christmas air with the erection of Christmas trees along the way which were placed there by the employees of the Standard Lumber Sales company, under the direction of Pete Peterson, new owner of the company. The trees were purchased by the Chamber of Commerce and erected by the lumber employees.

Many of the stores have also caught the holiday spirit and are decorated in the Christmas theme which adds to the attractiveness of the scene.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the Monday evening parade and bring their children to see Santa Claus. Plenty of candy has been purchased by the Chamber of Commerce in expectation of a record turnout of the younger generation who still believe in the beloved old St. Nick.

Well Known Pair Severely Injured In Auto Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peck of No. First St. were seriously injured Saturday evening about 5 p.m. when their car was completely demolished in a three-car collision just outside of San Mateo.

MRS. HAROLD PECK

According to their daughter, Mrs. Charles Kankel of Mt. View, a car made an unexpected left-hand turn across their line of traffic, and before Peck, who was driving, had a chance to apply the brakes, they had crashed into it. Immediately following the collision, the car in back of the Peck automobile crashed into the wreck.

Mr. and Mrs. Peck have both been confined to the Palo Alto hospital following the accident, but are reported to be recovering well. Peck suffered a broken left hand and broken right shoulder and Mrs. Peck experienced a fractured left wrist, a badly hurt knee, severe scalp lacerations and possible head concussions. Their car, a new Nash recently purchased by the well-known couple, was a total loss.

Information was not available as to whether the first driver was held or not, but it was understood that no other injuries were suffered.

Twelve Students Have Essay Wins In Navy Contest

Twelve Campbell Union High School senior students entered an essay contest sponsored by the 12th Naval District and the Navy League, and when the semi-finalists were announced it was discovered that all twelve students from Campbell had their essays chosen among the 75 winners from 14 Bay Area high schools. These essays were picked on an impartial basis with the student's name and high school blanked off. Which would seem to be a pretty good indication of the high caliber of the Campbell high school students and their teachers.

The semi-finalists have been invited to attend ceremonies to be held on Treasure Island Saturday morning at 11 o'clock and as the guests of the U. S. Navy will enjoy a three-hour cruise of San Francisco Bay aboard the combat destroyer U.S.S. Thomas Nickel. Each student is eligible to take one parent with him for the occasion.

Final awards of a one-week cruise aboard a Navy vessel in Pacific waters during the summer vacation is in store for the six high school boys who place first while the six girls to finish will be given a visit to the Del Monte Naval School at Monterey.

Subject of the essay contest, which was limited to 500 words, was "Why We Should Maintain an Adequate Navy in Peacetime." Mrs. Marjorie Green, senior English teacher at the high school, supervised the students' entries in the contest.

Sick Children Instructed In School Work

Even though the children of the Campbell school district are ill and confined to the hospital or home in bed, their studies are not neglected, it was revealed recently. Three teachers are now working out of the Moorpark school in the Campbell Elementary School system for children in the County Hospital.

Mrs. Lucille Breiner is working with the children in the isolation ward at the Santa Clara County Hospital, teaching numerous children who have been stricken with polio, while Mrs. Irene Burns has been assigned to the hospital sanatorium and Mrs. Bessie Porter in the pediatric department.

Also working with children who have been confined at home with prolonged illnesses is Mrs. Gladys Smith, a home teacher for special cases in the Campbell area. Mrs. Smith gives each child an hour of schooling a day which is equivalent of a day in regular school.

Working from the high school under Supt. Laurence Hill, is Mrs. Nadine Blackwell who is instructing in special therapeutic work 21 children in the county hospital who have been stricken with polio.

Also teaching occupational therapy in the county hospital proper, is Mrs. Wilda Bowden who teaches bedside patients, and Mrs. Louise Smith in the sanatorium who instructs bedfast and ambulatory patients in wood and leather work. All high school subjects are taught by teachers from the San Jose high school system.

Hill stated that the leather and woodcraft work which the patients are turning out is very beautifully done, and it is hoped that some outlet may be found in Campbell whereby the patients' work can be sold in order to purchase more raw materials with which the hospitalized persons can work. This work has been indicated by doctors as beneficial both for the mental and physical well-being of the patients. In polio cases in many instances it helps to restore muscles to activity.

Clinton Hummel of Los Angeles visited in Campbell for a few days at the home of his brother, R. B. Hummel, of Union avenue.

Formation of Nat'l Guard Unit Under Advisement

Formation of a National Guard Unit in Campbell is under consideration here following an announcement by Forrest Reese who was contacted by Major Langley and Capt. W. A. Smith of the National Guard units in this area. Reese stated that the Campbell Post 3596 American Legion has gone on record as approving the formation of such a unit.

Formation of the unit and subsequent construction of an armory is largely dependent upon the appropriation of a tract of land suitable for drilling and construction of the building. A fund of $105,000 has all ready been set aside by the State National Guard budget for the erection of such a building should the necessary land be appropriated.

Capt. Smith holds his rank in the regular army, Field Artillery and is an instructor of National Guard organizations in this area.

Miss Benevento Becomes Bride Of Cyril Barbaccia at Formal Wedding Ceremony Recently

Wedding vows were exchanged recently before the Holy Family Church altar of San Jose when Cyril Barbaccia took as his bride Miss Lena Benevento. White chrysanthemums and gladioli decorated the church where the Rev. A. J. Roccati officiated at the wedding service.

For her wedding gown Miss Benevento chose an en train gown of imported chantilly lace fashioned in an off-the-shoulder neckline, fitted bodice and hoop skirt. Her full-length veil was trimmed with lace and held with a cornet cluster of orange blossoms. Orchids, bouvardia, and stephanotis made up her wedding bouquet.

Miss Eva Benevento, sister of the bride, served as the maid of honor in an aqua satin dress styled with a fitted bodice and a hoop skirt which was caught up to reveal rows of lace. She carried American beauty cyclamen for her flowers.

Identically styled gowns of American beauty satin were worn by Miss Josephine Danna and Miss Marie Caravella in their roles as bridesmaids. Their dresses were designed with off-the-shoulder necklines, fitted bodices and full skirts with bustle backs. They wore matching heart-shaped hats, and carried flower of aqua carnations.

An orchid corsage was worn by Mrs. Benevento who was gowned in electric blue, while the mother of the groom chose forest green for her dress. She also wore an orchid corsage.

Serving as best man for his brother was Louis Barbaccia with Joseph Benevento and Richard Benevento, brothers of the bride, acting as ushers.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the Majestic Ballroom, after which the young couple left on their wedding trip to Crater Lake, Oregon and Victoria, B. C. For her going-away outfit the bride wore a purple knit dress topped with a leopard-trimmed holly green coat complimented with a leopard hat and reptile accessories.

The new Mrs. Barbaccia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benevento, and is a graduate of Campbell schools.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Barbaccia and is also a graduate of Campbell schools.

Parker Womack, small son of Mrs. Lorene Womack of Sunnyside avenue, is confined to his home with a bad case of chicken-pox.

make holidays happier

IN THESE DAYS OF CHRISTMAS SEASON, when each room in the house has been slicked up for company, your ever-willing and capable electric servants are kept busy. Here in California, electricity lends real cheer during the holiday season, especially for gay and festive lighting in home and garden. Light for color and sparkle. Light to complement the beauty of table settings. In California we truly have a Christmas of Light instead of a cold White Christmas.

Add happiness to your Christmas at home by giving Electrical Gifts. Choose a comforting electric blanket or sun lamp or a radio or television set or some ever-useful lamps or table appliances. Electrical Gifts are always ever-welcome.

Open House Held By What Not On Birthday

One of the nicest events of the season, which has become a traditional event in the Campbell calendar, was the delightful Christmas open house held by The What Not Wednesday afternoon on the occasion of their eighth birthday.

The many friends and well wishers of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fish and Mrs. Monica Parr, were enthusiastic over the cordial atmosphere of the gracious little shop where a brisk fire burning on the hearth greeted those who dropped in to say hello. A red and gold Christmas tree picked out the color theme for the affair which was carried out in the lovely table centerpiece of anthurum and holly flanked by flickering red tapers.

The tea table in the patio which was presided over by Mrs. Parr was favored by warm weather, and those who dropped in for a cup of tea were entertained by the tinkling music of an old-fashioned phonograph playing metallic records. The little shop adds a gracious atmosphere to the Campbell scene and their yearly open house adds to the charm.

No one is ever warmed by wool pulled over his eyes.

To have what you want is riches; but to be able to do without it, power.

More watches are spoiled by neglect of periodical cleaning and oiling them than by any other means.

It takes a lot of experience for a girl to kiss like a beginner.

When you try to make an impression, that's the impression you make.

If a good watch will go for a day it should go in the same condition of service for a year. Let Johns investigate why it has stopped.

Some people think they are in the groove when they are really in a rut.

"Little gentleman" sounds stinky, but "big boy" sounds good.

A new watch band from Johns Jewelry will transform that watch into a new fashion-piece. (Bring it in for free attaching after Christmas.)

School Situation High On Program

California's serious shortage of schools and teachers, and state expenditures affecting tax rates are high on the program Sidney M. Ehrman, San Francisco, chairman of the State Chamber's tax committee, announced for today for the tax section program at the California State Chamber of Commerce's annual statewide meeting in San Francisco Dec. 2. State officials, legislators, leading educators and State Chamber study committee chairmen are listed among the speakers.

State fiscal problems and taxation will be discussed at a forenoon session by James Dean, state director of finance, and Max Eddy Utt, Los Angeles attorney. Possibility of material tax revision on the federal level is the topic of J. R. White, Los Angeles, chairman of the State Chamber's federal tax committee.

Public school problems and discussion will occupy the afternoon session of the tax section, with the following subjects and speakers:

Revenue expenditure and trends, Henry Magnuson, director of research, State Department of Education; school room needs, Kenneth Brown, California Teachers Ass'n.; financing schoolhouse requirements, Sen. Nelson S. Dilworth, Hemet, chairman, senate interim committee on education; recruiting enough teachers, James A. Stone, State Department of Education; developing teacher salary schedules, Dr. Herbert Clish, San Francisco superintendent of schools; teacher load factors, J. Cecil Parker, associate professor of education, University of California; progress in evaluating the teacher and product, A. John Bartky, dean, school of education, Stanford university; State Commission on School Districts' recommendations to the Legislature, Dr. George H. Geyer, state survey director.

The State Chamber's agriculture, highway, industry and natural resources sections will also hold meetings Thursday, Dec. 2, with a general membership luncheon conducted by Harry A. Mitchell, State Chamber president. Gov. Earl Warren will be the luncheon speaker. Friday, Dec. 3, half-day sessions will be held by the travel and recreation, social security, transportation and water resources sections.

Car Registration Exceeds 4 Million

California motor vehicle registrations have exceeded 4,000,000 for the first time, A. H. Henderson, Director of Motor Vehicles, announced today.

A count of 1948 transactions through August 31, including those in processing, showed that registration stood at 4,004,298 vehicles, including both fee paid and exempt. This compares with 3,934,095 fee paid and exempt registrations in 1947.

The new figures place California well in advance of New York, the runner-up in the number of registrations, which reported 2,918,978 vehicles in 1947.

California topped its first million in motor vehicle registrations in 1923, its second million in 1929 and its third million in 1941.

Henderson reported that Santa Clara county had 110,293 fee paid registrations completed or in process on August 31 and a combined total of 111,212 fee paid and exempt registrations for the same period.

THE FARMER'S CORNER

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California).

In San Francisco, last June, the voters approved a Charter amendment requiring the City Controller to examine every local ballot proposition involving the expenditure of public funds, and submit a complete report detailing the exact cost of such proposals.

As a consequence, the taxpayers of San Francisco know exactly where they stand when they go to the polls to pass judgment on the outlay of funds from the city's treasury. The Controller tells them, as definitely as it is possible to do so, how much each project will cost, how much it will add to the tax rate, and how much interest and charges they will have to pay before a specific bond issue is retired.

Under the amendment, the Controller forwards his complete financial analysis to the Board of Supervisors, and the Board in turn has printed copies of the Controller's report enclosed in the sample ballot mailing.

Thus, every San Francisco taxpayer who took the trouble to read the official documents mailed to him in advance of the last election, knew almost to the penny how much money would come out of his pocket for the next five, ten, or twenty years to pay for local projects he was asked to endorse.

When the people of San Francisco voted in November, they rejected a half-dozen bond issues and approved one—for new school construction. Unquestionably the vote was influenced by the Controller's report. The people decided that while it would have been nice to boast, among other things, of a new Court Building and an expanded airport, they didn't want to foot the bills for them at the present time.

Legislation of the type described could serve as a model for other California counties, and for the State itself. It is beyond denial that all too often the people simply aren't provided with sufficient objective information to make a wise and intelligent decision involving the expenditure of millions of dollars of tax funds for this project or that.

As an example of situations created by the lack of advance information, the case of Proposition 4 on the State ballot is in point. Nowhere did the voters receive an independent breakdown of the costs of the increased pensions they approved by a majority so slender that absentee ballots had to be counted before the passage of the measure was confirmed.

True, opponents of the legislation asserted its cost would start at $125,000,000 a year, but the effectiveness of this statement was in no doubt lessened by the opposing contention of advocates of Proposition 4, who claimed that the total increase to the State would be only about $31,000,000 a year.

The voters had no means of determining, through independent analysis submitted by disinterested experts, whether the figures of those opposing the measure or those supporting it were correct.

Now it appears that the $125,000,000 figure may have been conservative. Everyone, from Governor Warren to local Boards of Supervisors, agrees that the passage of Proposition 4 presents the State with a huge financial headache which only the levying of additional taxes on a heavy scale will ameliorate.

There is another aspect to the State's dilemma. In the absence of any organized campaign against the pension act, it is not speculative to conclude that tens of thousands of voters did not know, when they voted for Proposition 4, that its costs would be a first lien against the Treasury; that they were freezing into the Constitution a scale of payments which could be revised only by another election; or that certain promoters of the measure were guaranteed plush administrative jobs under its terms.

In the last few weeks voices have been raised throughout the State urging that remedial action be taken to cushion the financial blow and relieve the threat to the State's credit resulting from the passage of Proposition 4. Various procedures have been suggested including an appeal to the courts to test the constitutionality of the act. In the end, however, it may be that only by resubmitting the entire measure to the electorate can the people hope to evade the consequences produced by a lack of understanding of the facts.

Wire Service Denied Bookies

The California Public Utilities Commission "is heartily in sympathy" with the decision last Wednesday of the United States Court of Appeals denying the Continental Press Service restoration of its wire service carrying horse racing information.

R. E. Mittelstaedt, President of the California Public Utilities Commission, said today that the decision, while based upon rules and regulations of the Federal Communications Commission applying to interstate wire service, unquestionably strengthens the April 6, 1948 decision of the California regulatory body relating to "bookies."

The California decision directs the Western Union and other wire services to discontinue intra-state wire service when called upon to do so by law enforcement authorities who have reasonable grounds for believing that the communications service is being used illegally.

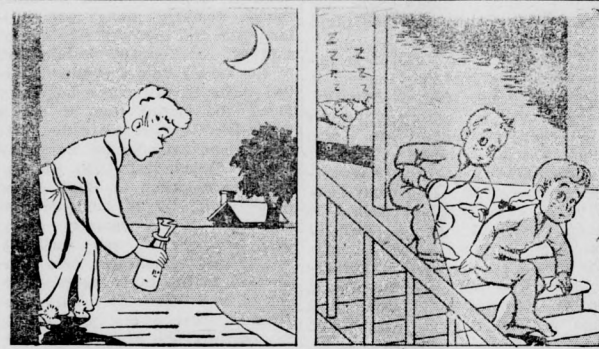

In the decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, of Dec. 1, which affirms the judgment and order of the United States District Court for the Southern District of California in denying the plaintiff's request for restoration of wire service, the question involved was one of interstate regulation.

Governor Warren originally suggested that the Commission interest itself in the suit.

New Changes in G. I. Bill

Clarifying regulations governing the guarantee and insurance of veterans' loans under the GI Bill, effective December 15, were announced today by Veterans Administration.

The changes pertain primarily to the relationship between VA and lenders who make GI loans to veterans. They do not directly affect veteran-borrowers whose loans are guaranteed or insured by VA.

The amendments are designed to clarify this relationship, particularly with respect to paying or compromising claims in connection with the government's guarantee of the loan.

Primary changes define the quality of property title acceptable to VA, and responsibility for the care of real estate properties conveyed to VA.

The new regulations provide generally, in cases of such conveyance to VA, that VA will accept from responsible lenders a general warranty deed, or title evidence customarily accepted locally by prudent lenders and informed buyers. This will expedite settlement of claims and minimize the need for individual title examinations. Responsibility of VA for the care of acquired property also is clarified.

A new section provides for supplemental loans, particularly those for home modernization, alterations or repairs. Other changes, aimed at eliminating delays and misunderstandings in the settlement of claims, are included.

Copies of the new regulations, and explanatory bulletins concerning them, are available at any VA regional office.

Timely Garden Tips

By ED CARMAN

Have you thought about getting a live Christmas tree this year? The cost is very little more than a cut, sometimes less, and rather than toss it out after Christmas you can plant it out in the yard and enjoy it for many years to come. Maybe even decorate it as an outside tree later on.

There are several trees which will work as live trees. To name a few, the Cedar, Cedar, Incense Cedar, Norway Spruce, Colorado Spruce, Douglas Fir, and the Redwood tree. If these have just been balled or dug they would be set in a large box or half barrel and be covered with sand or earth. This should then be wet down and be kept moist. Do not plan on keeping the tree inside for too long a time.

When placing it in the house put it as far as possible from the heater or fireplace. If lights are hung on the tree place them so they will not touch the leaves but hang in the open spaces between the branches. Keep the room as cool as possible and only light the tree for a few minutes at a time. This should keep the tree in good shape for planting out right after Christmas.

The early blooming Camellias are starting to bloom. Now is a good time to make your choice while you can see them in bloom. Spray for curly leaf on peaches if you have not done so with Lime Sulphur. For Shot Hole Fungus use a Bordeaux Mixture. All shrubs can be sprayed with a winter oil now to control the scale insects.

Start to prepare the ground for your rose bushes, fruit trees or any other bare root stock which you intend to plant in the near future. Dig deep and work in manure or humus.

There is still time to plant those bulbs if you have not done so. Tulips, Ranunculus, Daffodils, Hyacinths, Muscari, Callas should all go in now. Bedding plants that should be set out include Pansy, Viola, Snaps, Stock, Calendula, Primrose, Penstemon, Shasta Daisy and Ester Reed.

at $1500 and $2000. Jaqueth described all these as substantial structures, most of them with good rustic walls, board and composition roofs and excellent windows and doors.

Application for eligibility to purchase may be made by veterans to their county service officers. Farmers can make application to their county farm advisors or farm labor placement managers.

Starting Monday, Dec. 6, representatives of the Department of Finance will be on duty at the camp, which is located five miles north of San Luis Obispo on the Morro Bay road. Eligible veterans and farmers can inspect the buildings and get detailed information in advance of the sale.

Income Tax Forms Are Mailed Early

Preparations to facilitate the filing of 1948 income tax returns in the First California District are now under way. Collector of Internal Revenue James G. Smyth said today.

Income tax returns will be mailed to taxpayers of this district by December 8th. Thousands of 1948 returns have already been mailed. The reason for early mailing of tax forms is to cooperate with Postal Authorities during the Christmas season.

Taxpayers were advised to retain the new tax forms in a safe place until after the first of the year, when they may be used to report tax liability on 1948 earnings.

An itinerary for Deputy Collectors to visit rural towns is now being planned. Taxpayers are advised to follow local newspapers for the time and place a deputy collector will be in their community. The purpose of the deputy's visit is to assist and advise concerning the preparation of income tax returns.

From the San Francisco Internal Revenue Office an appeal for additional help to handle the 1948 income tax returns, was made by Collector Smyth.

The Collector pointed out, that about 40 temporary positions would be open in the San Francisco Office on January 3, 1949. The annual salary will be $2498.28. Applications for clerk typist, bookkeeping machine operators, computer operators, and listing machine operators, may now be made in Room 1312, 100 McAllister St., San Francisco.

It is expected that approximately nine out of every ten persons with income subject to withholding tax will be entitled to a refund on 1948 earnings. Collector Smyth said, that in the first few months of 1948, withholding rates on salary were higher than during the later part of the year. This, he pointed out, will entitle the average wage earner to a refund.

State Agency Pays Large Taxes

According to Mr. Paul Scharrenberg, Chairman of the Board of Directors, the State Compensation Insurance Fund has sent a check to the State Treasurer for $401,726.72 in payment of its taxes on 1947 business.

Although a State agency, the Fund is an insurance carrier operated under the supervision of a Board of Directors selected from its policyholders. The Fund is conducted on a cost basis, paying all of its own expenses, and returns all excess premiums to the policyholders.

The State Compensation Insurance Fund is thus a rather unique agency, for it is not only entirely self-supporting—paying all of its own expenses—but it also pays State taxes at the same rates as paid by the other carriers. The tax rate on the 1947 business is 2.35 per cent of net premiums written.

Since 1917 the taxes paid to the State by the State Compensation Insurance Fund have exceeded $5,000,000.
